

C O N T E N T S

A random number generator in one node generates random number seeds for a second random number generator in each of the nodes. Random numbers generated by the second random number generators in parallel are used to obtain random sample tuples in each of the nodes.

5